Hike in vegetable prices upsets people's budget

Trying to fix problem by establishing cold chains, say govt officials

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ LUCKNOW

Intense haggling coupled with hectic activity has become a routine feature at the Hahnemann Crossing 'Sabzi Mandi' with the green vegetable prices taking an upward trend. Small vans and carts parked on the rim of the mandi are overloaded with huge sacks of onions, potatoes and green vegetables as the retailers bargain for the best prices with the wholesalers.

Rawat, while talking to The Pioneer, said that several of the green vegetables were locally produced and belonged to the gourd family.

While the vegetable vendors agree that this is the usual scene post good monsoon rains which make the market and supply chain go awry, the general public grapples with the situation by creatively working on their menu. Government officials, on the other hand, state that they are trying to solve the problem by establishing cold chains.

For the record, the prices of bottle gourd, bitter melon, spinach, capsicum, beans, cauliflower, garlic, ginger and onions have shown an appreciable increase while tomatoes have taken a plunge.

The price of capsicum has increased from Rs 60 to Rs 100 per kg, that of beans from Rs 60 to Rs 100, bottle gourd from Rs 20 to Rs 30, spinach from Rs 20 to 50, potatoes from Rs 16 to Rs 25, garlic from Rs 100 to Rs 150, ginger from Rs 40 to Rs 60, potatoes from Rs 16-25 and onions from Rs 10 to Rs 15 to Rs 20 per kg.

Interestingly, there are different reasons for the increase in prices of different vegetables. Wholesaler Vinod Kumar Indore and while the rains have been scanty in Lucknow they have been good in other parts of the country. The transportation problems have translated into an increase in the prices," he said.

Manish Gupta, another retailer, said that this was the usual scene during all the monsoons. "This scene remains the same and is unlikely to change. The main problem is of the perishable items which need to be resolved along with the transportation issue of bringing in the produce from outside," he said.

However, additional upper director, Rajya Krishi Utpadan Mandi Parishad (UP), Ram Vilas Yadav said that the state government was already working on establishing the cold chains in UP. "Most of these goods are perishable ones and this problem can be resolved to a great extent with the cold chains which are coming up in Lucknow. There is an international-level cold storage which is being established at Malihabad where the farmers can not only store their vegetables but also get them sorted, cleaned and packed. There is a smaller cold storage which is coming up at Safdarjung and Barabanki," he added.

He said that these services would be provided at a nominal cost. "We want the farmers to get the best price for their produce hence the costs of the services will be nominal. It is true that we cannot control where the farmers sell their produce but we can facilitate them with better measures to store their produce," he added.

When queried about whether the Mandi Parishad should also focus on promoting the farming of vegetables which were procured from other states, Yadav said that it was already taking place. "Tomatoes may be coming from the southern states but there is a lot of local produce which is also coming to the mandis."

GRP arrest eight thieves, recover 51 mobile phones

Lucknow (PNS): The Government Railway Police (GRP) arrested eight persons at Lucknow railway station in Charbagh on Monday and recovered 51 stolen mobile phones from them.

The arrested persons were identified as Jamaluddin, Sheru aka Imran and Arvind of Lucknow, Santosh Kumar of Gonda, Sandeep Saroj of Rae Bareilly, Om Prakash Gupta of Auraiya, Ranjeet Kumar of Allahabad and Chitranjan Prasad from Bihar.

With the spurt in thefts in trains and on platforms, SP (Railway, Lucknow) Sonia Singh had constituted a team on the direction of GRP Director General (Railway) Gopal Gupta to check such incidents. Acting on a tip-off, the GRP team, headed by Inspector (GRP, Charbagh) DK Upadhyay, arrested four miscreants near PWI Store on the western side of platform No 1 while four others were caught near the power house close to Platform No. 6 of Lucknow junction.

₹20-lakh loot: No clue about miscreants

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ LUCKNOW

Five days after the sensational loot of Rs 20 lakh from outside United Bank of India in Cantonment area, police have failed to get any clue about miscreants.

The police had earlier detained 11 suspects, including those involved in loot cases in the past, and grilled them. "The police team, however, failed to extract any vital information about the miscreants. The police teams also quizzed some criminals in jail to get some clues about the miscreants but to no avail," sources said.

They said the police had collected call detail records of the bank staff. "Police had a hunch that the miscreants might have been tipped off about the money transaction by some of the bank staff. However, they are yet to identify any suspect," the sources said.

Meanwhile, a crime branch team got a tip-off about some miscreants, belonging to Bihar, running a gang. Sources said a team of crime branch had been dispatched to the location in search of the miscreants.

"Two of the members of this gang had similar body features as those of the suspects who were seen eating puri at a shop near Kotak Mahindra Bank from where bank manager Usha Chaudhary and peon Nirmala had withdrawn the cash on July 14. The police team had nabbed two of them and they are being interrogated," the sources claimed.

The police, however, denied any such development, saying investigations were on and suspects were being rounded up from different districts and states.

Also, a team of police is probing the role of connen in the cash loot case.

"If the miscreants were trailing the victims after they left Kotak Mahindra Bank for their workplace, they would have targeted them at other place, the probability of which is equally high. In the light of this, it seems to be a handiwork of connen," the sources said.

Meanwhile, taking serious note of the incident, senior officials convened a meeting to discuss the findings made to reach a conclusion and expedite the investigation.

"The police have collected some important clues and we hope that an investigation on that line may help in nabbing the robbers," a police official said.

DIG, Lucknow range, RKS Rathor said the police had got some technical clues and information about criminals and the case would be worked out soon.

In reply to a question, he said the police did not find any role of local criminals in the

CASE AGAINST MAN, KIN FOR DOWRY DEATH

Lucknow (PNS): The Sarojini Nagar police on Monday registered a case of dowry death against a man and his family members, eight days after the victim was killed.

Rani (30) of Mohanlalgarh was married to Govind of Sarojini Nagar two years back. On July 9, Rani died at her house under mysterious circumstances and later her father Satyanarayan lodged a case in this connection. He had alleged that Govind and his family members were forcing Rani to bring additional Rs 2 lakh in cash and other gifts as dowry. He had alleged that Govind, in connivance with his sister and brother-in-law, killed Rani. Krishna Nagar circle officer is investigating the case.

loot as yet. "Also, the role of bank staff did not cropped up as of now, but they are under scanner," he added.

On July 14, unidentified miscreants had looted the cash from the peon when the bank manager asked her to take the cash inside. The bank manager had withdrawn the cash from Kotak Mahindra Bank for official purpose and had returned to the bank around noon when the miscreants struck.

Couple get woman's house registered in their names

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ LUCKNOW

A couple befriended a neighbouring elderly woman and got her house registered in their name. When the victim, Nasreen of Moti Jheel Colony of Aishbagh, got to know about the fraud, she demanded an explanation from the couple — Mubarak Husain and his wife Rizwana.

On Monday, the couple allegedly stormed the house of the victim and forced her to vacate the house. When the elderly woman confronted the couple, she was thrashed.

The victim sought help from neighbours and lodged a case against the couple. Nasreen told police that the couple defrauded her by luring her into signing an agreement a few months back. "I was in dark about entire deal and got to know about the same when Mubarak told her that the house belonged to him," she said.

In a similar case, deputy registrar (IV) SB Chandra had lodged a case against Manoj Singh and one of his aides, Amrishi Kumar Maurya of Barabanki, for getting a plot registered in their name on July 9. After a case for tempering government documents and indulging in fraudulent practice was registered, sub-inspector Naradmoni Singh was asked to investigate the case.

On Sunday, the investigation officer nabbed Amrishi when he was loitering near the court. Police are interrogating him to get clues about the prime accused, Manoj Singh.

"A number of complaints involving land-related frauds pour in at the SSP office every day. The miscreants have a good rapport with babus in the Registry department and they get others' properties registered in their names," the sources said.

Explaining the modus operandi, the sources said that the miscreants initially spot a plot lying vacant and its owner, who is not a prominent person, with the help of their local links. "The miscreants collect details like plot number, khasra etc and prepare fake documents in connivance with the Revenue department babus. They later apply for registration of the land in their name while their aides pose as owners," they said.

When he reached near Valmiki Colony, the miscreants waylaid him and looted his mobile phone. "I was walking towards my home when the miscreants came from behind and the pillion rider snatched my mobile and also dished out threats," he told the police.
